A SONG.

Give me an eye, a swimming eye,
To meet my ardent glance—
A sunny eye to gaze upon,
When morn and eve have bound me;
Give me an eye to mingle tears,
When sorrow's clouds are round me.

Give me a cheek, a soft, soft cheek,
Warm roses blushing near it,
So bright, so pure, so angelic,
To smile to cheer me;
Give me a cheek to press to mine,
When I feel that I am lonely.

Give me a lip, a smiling lip,
Sweet smiles around it wreathing—
A dewy lip, a laughing lip,
To love and laughter breathing;
Give me a lip to kiss, when all
Is love, or love is near me.

A full, red lip, a laughing lip,
A laugh to cheer me;
A laugh to cheer me;
A laugh to cheer me.

Give me a hand, a strong hand,
To grasp me in its loving clasp;
A hand to hold me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A hand to hold me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a heart, a true heart,
To love me with its true love;
A heart to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A heart to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a soul, a true soul,
To love me with its true love;
A soul to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A soul to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A death to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a life, a true life,
To love me with its true love;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad;
A life to love me, when I am
Lonely, and when I am sad.

Give me a death, a true death,
To love me with its true love;
A death to love me, when I am

Four Days Later from Europe.

The steamer Pacific arrived at New York on Monday, bringing dates from Liverpool to the 12th instant. Cotton was firm and active at previous rates. Flour had declined 9d. to 1s., and wheat 4d. to 6d. The following is the Telegraphic report of the remainder of the news:

The fleet has been temporarily withdrawn from Cronstadt, on account of the prevalence of cholera at that place.

Prussia has sent a special envoy to Austria, urging Austria to refrain from further steps with France and England, but rather to join Prussia in new negotiations for peace.

Disturbances existed respecting the intentions of Austria, she having at Prussia's instance countermanded her advance army into Wallachia. The Russians are therefore not in a hurry to evacuate Wallachia. On the contrary, the Czar's letter to Prussia says that under any circumstances he insists on retaining the line of the South for strategic reasons.

Considerable mystification still hangs over the diplomatic relations of the Powers. Austria has again rejected mediation, and it is expected that a fortnight will elapse before the next phase of negotiations transpires.

There was an action at Chorgovo on the 5th of July. The Turks crossed the river in force, and met with the Russians a battle ensued, which resulted in a Russian victory.

The Russian still occupy the Danube bank from the Alala downwards. The French and English continue to concentrate between Varna and Schumla; 50,000 men are now there.

The report that the bombardment of Cronstadt commenced on the 30th of June is not true.

The Russians are forming a camp of 30,000 men between Bucharest and the Danube.

It is reported from Berlin that Count Montanelli will immediately leave for London, on a mission to consolidate the opposition to the new peace negotiation. It is also reported that the Czar will agree to abandon the line of the South, and withdraw all his troops into Russian territory during peace negotiations.

A battle of French and English boats took place on the Danube, near a short resistance.

The cholera was raging with great violence in all the principal Russian cities. At St. Petersburg on the 1st of July there were four hundred cases and a large number of deaths.

The details of the Spanish insurrection are conflicting, but it is certain the insurgents maintain themselves, although the country does not rise in their favor. The rebels were retreating towards Andalusia, and at the latest dates the capital was tranquil.

The London Herald reports the arrival at Madrid of an authorized agent of the United States empowered to purchase Cuba.

Snow Forty Feet Deep on the White Mountains. Whilst we are sweltering here beneath the burning rays of the sun, with the thermometer at nearly 100 degrees in the shade, it is refreshing and cooling to read, even of what is told in the following letter in the Boston Transcript from the White Mountains, in New Hampshire, under the date of the 17th instant:

"I commence penning this communication standing upon a snow bank forty feet thick, at the head of Tuckerman's ravine, and at the base of an amphitheatre of nearly perpendicular rocks over eleven hundred feet high! This famous ravine is situated about 5,000 feet in a direct line S. by N. from the top of Mount Washington. It receives the snow blown from the top of Mount Washington by northerly winds in the winter, and the accumulation during such a winter as the last must be several hundred feet in depth. The brook in the ravine wears its way under the snow, and as the warm weather comes the arch is gradually enlarged, so that by the middle of July it becomes a great curiosity.

"Our party took their dinner under the snow arch, and then proceeded to take an accurate measurement of the depth of the snow, the width of the arch, and its height from the stream. The measures were taken by Mr. Davis, who is the engineer of the White Mountain Carriage Road, and may be relied upon for their accuracy. The snow arch, through which a large stream of water is pouring over the rocks, is 130 feet in length, 84 feet in width, and varies from 6 to 40 feet in height. Outside, we find the whole body of snow to extend a distance of 266 feet, with an average width of 40 feet, and varying from 3 to 40 feet thick. Our party estimated the quantity of snow to be not less than a thousand tons at the head of the ravine. The two last leaps of the cascade before the stream enters the arch, are over 100 feet in height.

"It is a little singular that this body of snow lies exposed to the direct rays of the sun on the south side of the mountain, and is only in the shadow of the same after 3 o'clock, P. M. It would not seem possible that all the snow in the ravine would melt during the next six weeks."

The Butcher's in Buenos Ayres by Ross. The Hon. John S. Pendleton, late U. S. Minister to Buenos Ayres, in his testimony before the Downing court martial in Philadelphia, stated that Gen. Rosas, during the recent revolution there, had caused 5,000 persons to be privately assassinated in fifteen years, and that within a week of the time in which application was made by the persons for assistance to escape, he (Rosas) had more than a dozen persons arrested in the streets and shot down at once, without any trial whatever. The public executions were enormous. There was a club organized for the purpose of declaring who should be killed. The houses of the doomed were broken open at night, the inmates murdered and their bodies carried away in the public carts the next morning. If any one should happen to complain, it would be his or her name next to be assassinated.

San Juan Bombed by the U. S. Ship of War Cyane.—We announced a few weeks ago, the departure of the U. S. Ship of War Cyane, Com. Hollins, for Nicaragua, to demand satisfaction for an insult to Mr. Borland, American Minister to Central America, and to secure the American Transit Company from the annoyances they suffered from the Greytown authorities. The Cyane arrived at San Juan on the 11th, and as the authorities of the town refused to make reparation or apologize for their conduct, Commander Hollins bombarded the town for about six hours, then landed a body of men and burnt it. As the town was composed principally of a very limited number of huts, with some few buildings of more pretensions, the loss of property is of no great account.

What will be the upshot of this business we do not see. San Juan, or Greytown, is within the jurisdiction of no particular State. It is a kind of independent colony, settled by English and Americans, and holding what territory they claim from a grant by the Mosquito King. The authorities of the town have been a long while disputing with the Transit Company over the Nicaragua route, growing out of business arrangements, and both parties have probably been giving provocations to each other. The cause of Mr. Borland's interference was to resist the authorities' attempt to arrest the captain of one of the Nicaragua Company's steamers, who shot a native in the river, it is said in self defence.

The authorities insisted upon the delivery of the captain into their hands to be tried for murder. Mr. Borland denied their authority, and when he went ashore, they mobbed and otherwise insulted him. They have paid rather dearly for their temerity.

A Noble Contribution from George Peabody, Esq.—Wm. W. Coreoran, Esq., of Washington, has just received the following letter from George Peabody, the liberal American Banker, resident in London:

LONDON, July 4, 1854.

MY DEAR SIR.—I have just returned from a brilliant celebration of the glorious Anniversary of our Independence, at the Star and Garter Hotel, Richmond, which was made doubly interesting by the Queen's presence. I have seen the portraits of the full length portraits of herself and Prince Albert, to place by the side of that of Washington, a compliment which I cannot too highly appreciate.

While seated beneath the calm and dignified features of our beloved Washington, and listening to the beautiful eulogium of Sir James Emerson Tennant, (who is a highly influential member of the Government), I recalled to my mind the magnificent Monument now being erected in your city to the Father of his Country—the highest in the world, but bearing no comparison to the proportion of his exalted character. That I may have a hand in its construction, as I have long intended, I beg to contribute my mite, and hereby authorize you to place my name on the subscription list for one thousand dollars.

Very respectfully and truly yours,
GEORGE PEABODY.

Another Clergyman in bad Repute.—The Pottsville (Pa.) papers inform us that the preacher in charge of the First Methodist Church of that city has been charged with drunkenness and indecently exposing his person to young girls; and that he was compelled to leave the city in order to escape summary punishment. He has left behind him an interesting wife and four children. Through the liberality of kind friends they have been provided with means to return to the family of the deserted wife in England. No name is given.

A Bad Engagement for an Actor.—Elopement.—A young man doing business in Williamsburg, N. Y., having a particular regard for the health of his young wife and two small children, sent them about a week since into the country to enjoy the pure air while he remained at his avocations. After several days the confiding husband discovered that he was duped. His wife had left the children with some friends and had eloped with an actor. It appears that for some time past the wife had been in the habit of visiting Barham's Museum in New York, where she was introduced to a young actor under an assumed name. The acquaintance was continued until she was finally induced to desert her husband and infants for an unprincipled villain.

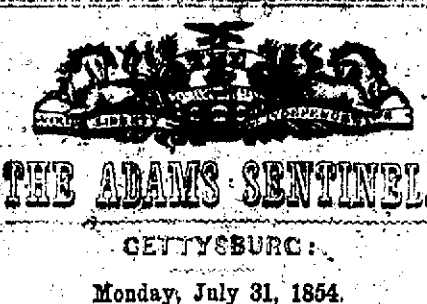

Trouble with Russia.—We seem to be on the eve of trouble with Russia, produced by the high-handed measures of Gen. Sanokis, Governor of Russian America. By certain powers which this official has assumed, in granting privileges to a rich fishing company, along the North-western American coast, to which Russia has no manner of claim or title, the fishing vessels of the United States have been captured, and the captains heavily fined, for fishing in these waters, the right to which is now for the first time asserted by the Czar.

Fearful Hurricane and Loss of Life. CHICAGO, July 25.—The Chicago Tribune states that on Thursday last a fearful hurricane visited Davenport. The steamer Ben Campbell had her pipes blown down, and the steamer Golden Gate and Emma Harmon had their entire upper cabins blown off, were capsized, and all are supposed to be lost.

The store of Messrs. Wickham & Son was blown down and nine persons buried in the ruins. Seven were taken out alive, and the other two, supposed to be females, had not been extricated.

Wonderful—If True.—A New Brunswick paper says that a curious and rare occurrence has just taken place at St. Monaca. A woman whose age is 84, had been complaining of a pain in her jaw for some time, which she ascribed to toothache, but although it is nevertheless true, the old woman was "boothed." During the last week she acquired two new grinders—one on the upper and the other on the lower jaw. She is well, and proud of her additional assistance.

Fatal Catastrophe.—A few days ago, a tremendous thunder storm took place at Warren, Illinois. The stone house of Mr. John Williams, in which were more than twenty people, was struck by lightning, and the inmates injured, many of whom were killed. Mrs. Mary Williams, aged 18, was instantly killed.

WHIG STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JAMES POLLOCK,
OF Northumberland county.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,
GEORGE DARSIE,
OF Allegheny county.

FOR ATTORNEY AT SUPREME COURT,
DANIEL M. SMYSER.

An Apprentice to learn the PRINTING business, will be taken at this Office. He must be of industrious habits, and strict integrity; none other need apply.

Judge HENRY, of Carlisle, has accepted an invitation to deliver the Annual Address before the Linnean Society of Pennsylvania College, during Commencement week in September.

The committee of the Trustees of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, have unanimously chosen the Rev. P. V. GERHART, formerly of Gettysburg, and now Professor at Tiffin, Ohio, for the situation. It is said to give general satisfaction.

The corner stone of the new College edifice at Lancaster, was laid on Tuesday last.

There is a large company at Caledonia Springs. It has been quite a "successful experiment." We learn that extensive improvements will be made this fall. It is likely to be "the spot."

HON. JONATHAN ROBERTS, at one time a Senator of the United States from Pennsylvania, and Collector of the Port of Philadelphia under President Tyler, died at his residence in Montgomery county, a few days ago, in the 85th year of his age.

On Wednesday week, during a violent storm which passed over the southwest part of Franklin county, a large and valuable barn of Mr. John Bentz, near Fayetteville, was struck by lightning, and entirely consumed, with all its contents. The entire crop of grain and hay, from a large farm, a horse and a cow perished in the flames.

A tremendous thunder storm passed over part of York county on Tuesday evening last. Rain fell in torrents for a long time, drenching fields, beating down the corn, &c. During the storm, the fine large barn of Mr. John Gerwick near Glen Rock, filled with hay and grain, was struck by lightning and consumed. A barn in the same vicinity, owned by George Mahls, was also struck, and another in Manchester township, with a large amount of grain.

The cholera is still prevailing to a considerable extent in a great many places. It has abated somewhat in Chicago—the number of deaths on the 22d being but 14. At Toledo, on the 19th, there were 20 deaths.

The disclosures of the neglect and death of the paupers at the Buffalo poor-house continue to excite a strong feeling there. The deaths on Tuesday were 12 to 15 from cholera.

Singular Suicide.—On Tuesday night last, Dr. Jayne, of Nashville, Tenn., put a keg of powder under his house, and blew himself and his house to fragments. The flames burnt four adjoining buildings.

The cholera suddenly broke out among the Irish laborers at the Suspension bridge near Niagara Falls on Saturday week, and the scene was very distressing. About sixty had died up to Monday, and a great portion of the survivors died. At one slant, two had died alone, and were seen in a terrible state of decomposition. No one would enter the cemetery to bury the bodies, and it was set fire to and the bodies consumed. The disease was abating. A number of the shanties have been burnt down.

A number of sudden deaths occurred last week at Cape May, and there was great alarm, of course. It appears now that two deaths occurred among a portion of the visitors who were utterly reckless as to what they ate, and given to the wildest excesses in drinking. A lot of cheap brandy which was bought at wholesale for 20 cents a gallon, was for sale at certain low resorts on the island—and this itself would account for some of the deaths.

A most remarkable fatality happened a week or two ago, in the family of Mr. Jacob Landis, formerly of Lancaster county, but lately a resident of Sterling, Illinois. Mr. T. left town for the purpose of attending to some business in a neighboring town. While there he was taken with the cholera, but succeeded in reaching home, and eventually recovered. His wife and six children, however, were stricken down with the disease, and within a short time of each other, all died.

About 40 liberated slaves from Virginia, hearty, healthy and happy in appearance, arrived a few days ago at Chambersburg. They travelled there in wagons drawn by fine horses, which had been furnished them for their transportation to a free State.

These negroes were liberated by a gentleman and his daughter residing in Berkshire county, Va.

A Good Fire Comfortable.—Our readers will recollect, that the weather was bad on Friday week. On that day, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the thermometer was at zero, and the Milwaukee paper of that afternoon says: "Every thing looks like a fire."

The decision of the Supreme Court of this State against the closing of liquor establishments on Sunday has given great dissatisfaction to the friends of temperance, who will now renew their exertions to secure the adoption of the prohibitory law.

Death of Ex-Pres. Fillmore's Daughter.

On Tuesday evening last, Miss Fillmore, daughter of the Ex-President, left her father's residence, at Buffalo, to spend a few days at Aurora. In the night she was attacked with cholera, and died at 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning. When her father, brother and Dr. White reached her, about 10 1/2 o'clock, she was so far gone as to be unable to recognize them, and died in half an hour thereafter. The distressing event has cast the deepest gloom over the community. She was 22 years of age.

More Gold.—The steamers Prometheus and Illinois arrived last week at New York, with a large number of passengers from California, and nearly two millions in gold.

How It Goes.—The steamer Asia sailed from New York for Liverpool on Wednesday, with 130 passengers, and $800,000 in specie.

The Free City of Bremen has sent on a stone for the National Washington Monument. It was presented to the President on Tuesday, by the Bremen Minister—and a couple of speeches were made on the occasion.

The German Catholic Asylum near Pittsburg, was burned to the ground on Wednesday morning. The furniture was saved. The building was four or five stories high, and the loss is about $7,000—insured for $5,000.

The wheat crop has been gathered in Ohio and Virginia. In the former the crop has been much better than anticipated, the fly having done much less injury than was supposed. In Virginia the yield is more than an average in quantity and quality.

An Exemplary Community.—It is stated that in the county of Elizabeth City, N. C., there has not been within the last 12 or 15 years a single individual confined to the jail for any criminal offence, and a very limited number, for any other cause. For the last two years the jail has remained unoccupied.

There is not a solitary adult pauper in the county. A few orphan children only, left unprotected, are maintained and schooled at the public expense.

A correspondent of the Dover (N. H.) Observer says that Charles L. Chase, aged nine years, became so intoxicated on the 4th of July that no efforts could revive him, and he expired at about 12 o'clock at night. The scandal who furnished the child with liquor was not known.

Palm's Monthly, for August, is out on table. Its contents are of that solid and very interesting character, which have marked this periodical ever since its commencement.

Sudden Death.—On Thursday evening, Frederick Augustus Roelke, a young and industrious German laborer, lately married, who was engaged at the work of tearing down the old Lutheran church in Frederick, Md., imprudently bathed his head, neck and arms in cold water from a pump, whilst in a profuse perspiration, after long exposure to the hot sun. He was taken sick soon after, and died on the following day of congestion of the brain.

The Crops in Scotland.—The circulars from Glasgow speak strongly of the promising condition of the crops throughout Scotland. Cereal crops, it is said, are at least two or three weeks farther advanced than at the same period last year. Scarcely has there been seen thicker and stronger crops of wheat, barley, and oats. A large growth of potatoes is every where noticed, and with trifling exceptions is healthy, regular, and promising.

Proposed Sale of Russian America to the United States.—It is rumored that despatches from the Russian Government arrived in the Pacific on Monday, offering to sell to the United States the whole of the Russian territory in North America, comprising the whole of the continent from the Arctic Ocean to Observatory Inlet in lat. 55, and extending inland as far as long. 63 deg.

It appears now that two deaths occurred among a portion of the visitors who were utterly reckless as to what they ate, and given to the wildest excesses in drinking. Health of Richmond, Va.—It appears from the Richmond Enquirer, that the first death from cholera in that city occurred on the 19th ultimo, since which time 30 white and 68 colored persons, who have died of the disease, have been buried at the City Cemetery; besides 8 others who were buried in Hollywood Cemetery, making a total of 101 deaths from cholera. The total number of deaths from all diseases for the same period was 281. There are three or four small cemeteries from which no returns have been received; but it is estimated that the whole number of cholera deaths in the city, so far, do not exceed 125. The disease has now considerably abated, and is confined generally to the filthy and imprudent. There were only three deaths on Monday.

A Sail-Boat.—The Boston Journal says: "A sail-boat was arrested for drunkenness, on Thursday afternoon, and lodged in station No. 4, who was a few years ago the master of a very large fortune, that has slipped from him and left him a wretched individual. He was an extensive trader in New York and Boston."

A Warning.—A man in Wheeling, Va., the other day rendered himself a cripple for life, by taking a cold bath while sweating. Paralysis immediately shrouded his left side, from shoulder to foot—a deadness creeping over it which no medical aid can probably remove.

A Duet between Americans in Europe.—It is reported that Daniel E. Sickles, Esq., Secretary of the American Legation at London, telegraphed to Liverpool on the 11th inst., to "know whether John Van Buren, Esq., then expected in the steamer from New York, had arrived, and if so, where he could be found; his object being, it is said, to send him a challenge to fight a duel somewhere on the continent of Europe. Mr. Sickles, it is alleged, was greatly offended at a speech made by Mr. Van Buren in Tammany Hall last winter, reflecting rather personally upon him.

Large Icebergs.—Capt. Richards, of the British brig Ocean, arrived at New York from Lunenburg, reports that on the 20th inst. in latitude 43° 27', longitude 48° 43', he saw an iceberg about five miles in circumference and three hundred feet high.

A Child Killed by a Panther.—We learn from the Abingdon Virginian, that a little daughter of Mr. Barker, living in the lower part of Washington county, Va., was killed a few days ago by a panther. Mrs. Barker had sent the little girl to a spring for water. The child staying longer than was necessary, the mother went in search of her. Near the spring she found traces of blood, and a short distance beyond, a portion of her child's body. A few steps from the place where the remains of the child were found, a large panther was discovered in a tree. The unerring rifle of one of the company who were promptly out in search of him, so soon as the monster was observed, brought him to the ground.

Amongst the incidents of the celebration of the late national anniversary was the laying of the cornerstone of a monument to WASHINGTON at Fort Ness, in Union county, (Pa.) which was the first battle-ground of the great chief of the Articles of the Revolution. The cornerstone was laid with military and masonic honors, in the presence of a large assemblage of citizens. The address was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Cox, President of Madison College, and the ceremonies were concluded with a sumptuous dinner, at which a number of patriotic toasts were drunk.

Brutal Murder.—A young man, named Osborn, assaulted a Mr. Ashby on the American Bottom, near Alton, Illinois, on Wednesday last. He had stabbed Ashby two or three times, when a son of the father, aged 18, attempted to protect his father by holding the assassin, when he turned upon the lad and cut him so badly that he died the next morning. Osborn was immediately arrested, and a vote being taken by the neighbors, it was unanimously agreed upon that he should be forthwith hung. However, at the entreaty of Mr. Ashby, he was finally determined that the law should be left to take its own course, and Osborn, after a preliminary examination, was taken to the Edwardsville jail, where he now lies to await his trial.

Not to be Hounded at.—The Albany, N. Y., Express says:—A boy 13 years old got up on Tuesday morning perfectly well, ate some green apples and a pint of cherries before dinner, drank plentifully of milk at his dinner, and was laid in the cemetery before dark of the same day.

Mr. Davis, of Clermont county, Ohio, took the first lot of ripe peaches of this season to Cincinnati, and sold them for eight dollars per bushel.

A Slave Case.—On Saturday evening last, Mr. Wm. Cloman, of Louisiana, accompanied by his wife, child, and a female slave named Yina, arrived in Zanesville, Ohio, en route for North Carolina. On the following morning a writ of habeas corpus was sued out to take the slave from the custody of her owner and set her free, but as she declared she would not desert her master and mistress, the matter was forthwith abandoned.

John H. Wells, of Greene, has been nominated as the Whig candidate for Congress in the district composed of the counties of Greene, Fayette and Washington, Pa.

The Public Lands.

As was briefly announced in our paper of Saturday last, the bill to hasten the alienation of the public lands was passed by the Senate on Friday evening, considerably modified, but in a shape not much less objectionable than the scheme of the "Homestead Bill," for while it stops short of giving the lands outright, without money and without price, to all comers, they are placed on such a footing and at rates so low as to provide a pretty speedy riddance of the entire public domain—a consummation apparently devoutly wished by the dominant party, but which, in our plain understanding, seems a most deplorable mistake. The lands would not go away, and would cost nothing to retain as they are until demanded by the natural increase of the American people. The sales and transfers of our own citizens will in due time require homes in the fertile regions of the West, and how much better to reserve them for such occupants than for such as are likely to be tempted from the Old World to come and accept them. The Virginia Senators tried in vain to get exempted from the squandering process the Northwestern Territory, given by that State to the General Government as a fund for the common benefit of all the States; but even that solemn condition was disregarded, and the Virginia lands were thrown into hotchpot with the rest. Twenty years ago a leading member from the West gave fair and open notice on the floor of Congress that the time will come when the representatives of the West would write at the head of all land bills, "sic volo, sic jubeo," but the members of the old States heeded him not. One of the pernicious dogmas of party forbade the adoption of a timely and wise system, which would have rendered the public lands a source of enduring and equal benefit to all the States; but the plan was proposed by Henry Clay, and that was enough with all the liques of Democracy to condemn it. And now the time for "sic volo, sic jubeo" has come, and it is written.—Nat. Int.

North Branch Canal.—The resumption of this work took place in 1849. After years of delay, and the expenditure of nearly $2,000,000 since that time, its completion has been earnestly looked for not only by the citizens of the North Branch region, but by the tax payers, to whom large profits have been promised. The Canal Board have failed in all their performances. Experience is lost on them. Each winter large appropriations are solicited to expedite the work. Its completion was certain last spring. The Canal is not yet open. Why, the tax payers are not informed. The Canal Board, in their report of December, 1842, ask for money, and state that "the opening of navigation in the Spring, we shall have a continuous water communication by Canal between the Potomac and the Ohio. The Maryland Canal and the Potomac and the North Branch will be open."

In the last message of Governor Bigler he alleges that the Canal would be opened "in ample time for the Spring trade."

These are specimens only of the false promises of those who manage the State Works. Whether the delay in opening the Canal arises from incompetency, from mismanagement, or whether false promises are held out to delude the tax payers, we know not. In the last five years two millions have been expended on this line—which is to be added to two and a half millions previously expended—all of which is dead loss to the State until the Canal is brought into operation. The entire investment of $4,500,000 is lost until the Canal is opened—the State pays interest upon it, and receives nothing.

The Ravages of the Cholera at Barbadoes. We have Barbadoes papers to the 27th ult. The cholera is still raging there, and the 14th had been observed as a day of solemn prayer and humiliation, that the pestilence might be stayed.

dict, bearing date the 19th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, and to me directed, for holding a Court of Common Pleas, and General
Quarter Sessions of the Peace, and General
Jail Delivery, and Court of Oyer and Terminor, at Gettysburg, on Monday the 21st of August next.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all the Justices of the Peace, the Clerks and Consistories within the said County of Adams, that they are to attend at their proper places, with their Lists, Records, Inquisitions, Examinations, and other Remembrances, to the above places, to their offices and in that behalf appointed to be done, and they who will present against the prisoners that are or shall be in the Jail of the said County of Adams, are to be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.
